On the Road ahead . . . as on the Road behind

Now that you are about to step out of the world of high school into the more exacting world of business and college you look more than ever to the things that have served you well these past years. You are taking a mental inventory of those friends, institutions and practices that you know can help you on the road ahead. Boggs & Buhl has always earnestly strived to give the most complete and satisfying service a department store can give. We hope that in future you will find us a help to you, that our service will continue to progress with your success.
